Strange Thing
Mary Black
[Intro]
[Verse]
Once in a while I can smile that old smile
And I know I m in trouble again
Even though you get older, that old tap on the shoulder
                                Am
Will turn you again and again
[Chorus]
I couldn t change it
             E7
    Bm
                        Am
I ve never arranged it
That s what the strange bit s always been
[Verse]
Oh, give me the time and the sweet taste of wine
And I ll tell you that story again
Of the look in his eye long before all the lies
                                 Am
And the parting began to begin
[Chorus]
                      Bm
I couldn t change it
             E7
I ve never arranged it
                                             C
That s what the strange bit s always been
[Bridge]
                                    C
Strange thing, this love business
Strange thing, this old love
                                   D
Strange thing, this love business
```

G

[Verse]
Oh, the making you cry and the saying goodbye
The whole damn thing is insane
Even though you get older, that old tap on the shoulder
Will turn you again and again
[Chorus]
I couldn t change it
             E7
    Bm
                        Am
I ve never arranged it
                D
That s what the strange bit s always been
[Bridge]
                                    C
Strange thing, this love business
Strange thing, this old love
Strange thing, this love business
Look what love has done to us
[Instrumental]
               F
                         Bm E7
                                  Am D
[Bridge]
                                    C
                   G
Strange thing, this love business
Strange thing, this old love
Strange thing, this love business
Look what love has done to us
Look what love has done to us
Look what love has done to us
```

Look what love has done to us
