Verse 1:

	Em
February 5th, Friday morning, purple dawn
C	G5	D/F#
Broke a yawn, as a I stepped through the fog, like I stepped to a song
Em	C
A moment like a poem, you wish you could hold it
G5	D/F#
I shut my eyes like it s frozen, it s gone when I open

Em C
It slipped passed the clouds right there where it lingered

G5 D/F#
Like your band and a girl could slip through your fingers

Em C
My feet hit the ground like a beat for the lonely

G5 D/F#
On a path beaten down by the crowds in the morning

Em
If only I could touch past the phony

C G5
If only they were there now to hold me

D/F#
As the questions keep droning

*Note: Use some palm muting techniques between each chord strike for it to sound like the album version. For the live version, you can play the strings open in between chords.

It s my last year here
My first class moved to portable a
Under construction since summer
And it s cold today
I can see my breath, and what s left of the west parking lot
And all the spaces that we fought
And it all seems forgotten, left in the bottom
In past piles of rubble, in puddles of rain water
That hurt last night when I left like that
When I won t come back
Speaking my peace to the past
I can t help but wonder, who is this wind at my back
A whisper to walk on, come on from all that
