*does that quick slide every time he plays it during the verse

G

Oh, what a life for a lover.

D***

I was underneath it all as you stumbled

C

D

tell me where did you go?

G

And oh what an end to your summer,

D***

I was bandaging your bones.

C

D

I carried on although i know you wont.

G

And oh you speak your words but you stutter.

D***

I find the cure in my heart its stone and in bathroom stalls

C

D

I figured you d know.

C

I was hiding where were you?

D

had something to lose.

C

I was hiding where were you?

D

had nothing better to do.

G

And oh how you love one another

D*

wishing for some kind of hope is that what you want?

C D

You always seem to know.

G

And oh whats it like to be under?

D*

Yeah i saw your face fold as you got to close slipping out of your clothes.

C D

C

I could never bare the thought,

D

spent all year on my bedroom floor,

D

I ve been walking someone to my car door.

G D* C D

And oh

G

And oh I loved you most in the summer,

D*

now your body has been put to shame that innocent face

C D

has gone to waste.
