VERSE 1:

Em                                G
    You cannot be certain,
                                D
you cannot be sure.

                                Am                                Em
All those times that I took for granted left me wanting more.

                                G                                D                                Am
Now that I ve awoken, I m ready to adore though my heart is broken I m Em (One strum and for the following:)
wiser than before.
