 Here s a rough and tumble song that borders on just plain noise! The song uses one rhythm guitar and the through-the-song-soloing guitar which I just don t think
I ll ever get down. It would be too much to add here, so I ll just give the basic chord setup and let the intense ad-lib soloing up to you. This song is dark, yet light.
Enjoy!

Band enters

Rhythm Riff (play 4 times before first verse)
A#   D#   C#   F

Verse
F   A#   D#   C#
I m in too deep
F   A#   D#   C#

Drowning in the fire
F   A#   D#   C#
Burning in the lake
F   A#   D#   C#
Dying from desire, dying for desire
F   A#   D#   C#
I m in too deep
F   A#   D#   C#
Grasping like a liar
F   A#   D#   C#
Yeah, and do you want me
F   A#   D#   C#
 Cause I m gonna fly, yeah, I m gonna fly

Chorus
F   A#   D#   A#
I m in too deep
                                            D#   A#
And even when you think you already know what to do, baby
                           G#   C
There comes a hard road rushing at you
                                    A#   D#   C#
And honey ain t life sweet
F   A#   D#   C#
Mmm, too deep

Verse
I m in too deep
I ve opened up my eyes now
 Cause now I understand how
It s easy when the fear is real with the fear
I cannot sleep
Walking in a dreamland
Wishing I could feel shame
 Cause there s nobody else to blame nobody else

Chorus
I m in too deep
And even when you think you already know what to do, baby
                           G#   C
There comes a hard road rushing at you
C
And honey ain t life
C   A#   D#   C#
And honey ain t life sweet
F   A#   D#   C#
Ah, it s too deep

Solo here!
