Beautiful song from Rise To Your Knees!
(I m pretty sure the lyrics aren t 100% correct, but I can t really figure it out)

Intro: G# F# F# F# (x4) G#

  C#            G#        F#            C#
Someday on the moonwalk everything was right
  C#            G#        F#          C#
Bounced on the onfloat history of life
  C#            G#          F#          F#
Somewhere in the afterglow peeling it fell
        C#              G#             F#    F# F# F#
And it s good to see the happiness so far

          C#                   G#
You re the grass, you re the trees
            F#                C#
You re the thing that makes the wind
          C#              G#
You re the roots of the sky
          F#        F# F# F#
You re an island

          C#                   G#
You never move, you never sleep
          F#                C#
You re the thought I cannot keep
        C#              G#
You re a denessen of the deep
        F#        F# F# F# G#
You re an island

  C#                G#
Always in the never glades
  F#            C#
Purple wings in five
  C#            G#        F#              C#
Predators in a picture, golden eyes and I

  C#                    G#          F#            F#
Somewhere in the afterglow peeling it fell
           C#                G#             F#     F# F# F#
Where it s coming from no one can ever tell

          C#                      G#
You re the grass, you re the trees
           F#                       C#
You re the thing that makes the wind
           C#                G#
You re the roots of the sky
         F#          F# F# F#
You re an island

           C#                     G#
You never move, you never sleep
           F#                   C#
You re the thought I cannot keep
         C#                   G#
You re a denessen of the deep
         F#          F# F# F# G#
You re an island

  C#                    G#          F#              C#
Somewhere on the earth now everything is cool
  C#                    G#          F#              C#
Drinking from the overflow splash becomes a pool
  C#                G#          F#              F#
Always in the after glow peeling it fell
           C#                G#             F#     F# F# F#
Where it s coming from no one can ever tell

          C#                      G#
You re the grass, you re the trees
           F#                       C#
You re the thing that makes the wind
           C#                G#
You re the roots of the sky
         F#          F# F# F#
You re an island

           C#                     G#
You never move, you never sleep
           F#                   C#
You re the thought I cannot keep
         C#                   G#
You re a denessen of the deep
         F#          F# F# F#
You re an island

           C#                     G#
You never move, you never sleep
           F#                   C#

You re the thought I cannot keep
      C#   G#
You re a denessen of the deep
        F#   F# F# F#
You re an island

          C#   G#
You re the moon, you re the glass
      F#   C#
Down stone the donkeys ass
    C#   G#
Up above the heavens laugh
      F#   F# F# F# G#
You re an island
