

Amanda Allemyr - Do Something
Misc Unsigned Bands

Em                    G                    D                    C                    Em
Why arent you happy when the world is at your feet?
                         G                                    D                    Em                                    C
Why arent you happy when thereâ€™s so much left for you to see?
                         G                    D                                    Em                                    C
Why arent you happy when life is as short as it is?
Em                    G5
Why waste it on crying?

Em                    G                    C                                    D
I just dont get why you refuse to see things from a brighter perspective,
Em                    G                                    Dsus4
why you blame it on somebody else.
Em    G                                    D                    C                                    G5
Take things in your own hand and do something about it instead.

Em    G                                    C                    D                    Em                    Am7
Why dont you just let everything go and leave for a while?
Em                    Dsus4                    G                    C
You might stumble upon somebody who make you realize how Em                    Am7 great life really is,
                         Em                    G                                    D
and how you should enjoy it.

Em                    G                    C                                    D
I just dont get why you refuse to see things from a brighter perspective,
Em                    G                                    Dsus4
why you blame it on somebody else.
Em    G                                    D                    C                                    G5
Take things in your own hand and do something about it instead.

G                    Dsus4                                    C
Youre wining about how nobody wants to be with you,
D
talk to you
                         C                    G5
I promise we would if you just stopped
G    Dsus4
believing the whole world stands against you.
G                    Em                                    D                    C
Cant you at least try to turn your life around and,
G5
Smile?

Em                    G                    C                                    D

I just dont get why you refuse to see things from a brighter perspective,

Em            G                    Dsus4

why you blame it on somebody else.

Em    G                    D                    C                                    G5

Take things in your own hand and do something about it instead.

Em                    G                    C                                    D

I just dont get why you refuse to see things from a brighter perspective,

Em            G                    Dsus4

why you blame it on somebody else.

Em    G                    D                    C                                    Em

Take things in your own hand and do something about it instead.