Danny Wallace - How To Start Your Own Country Anthem Misc Unsigned Bands

Another gem of a song which I couldn t find any chords for online. It s pretty simple, but you should listen to the song first to work out the strumming.

Capo 2 Yesterday was dark and dingy, My temperament was rather wingy, E7 Things had got me wonderin why I lived in London anyway, My days were grey. Now I welcome all and sundry, Everyone can join my country, Listen if you re near them, E7 Maybe you can hear them say... A7 You we got to teach the world to sing, Danny Wallace is the king! A7 For justice and politeness are the laws which he will bring, Where the order of the crown is to frown upon the frown. We ve done a constitution and we ve even wrote it down... Although the nation may be small it s the nicest of them all, A land of opportunity where crime s against the law. Ev ry subject do your part, with your hand upon your heart, E7 A Kingdom-come-democracy to start. [Instrumental break/key change]  ${\tt G}$  /  ${\tt D}$  /  ${\tt A}$  /  ${\tt D}$  -  ${\tt D7}$  / G / D / E / A7 /

D Ev ryone is just the same, It doesn t matter who you name. Fmaj7 E7 Anyone can be a dame, or sir, or lord (but not king) People gather round completely Listen as I tell you sweetly All across our nation E7 Join the recitation with me... Α7 You we got to teach the world to sing, Danny Wallace is the king! A7 For justice and politeness are the laws which he will bring, Where the order of the crown is to frown upon the frown.
