Lyrics

Well my heavy heart is aching, my clothes never fit me
You know what Ive been drinking since the day that you quit me
Take a little pill an elevator to heaven
Raindrops over-spilling in my seven & seven

Well I know you think youre hotter than the one that I checked in
I know you wont be proper at this wedding reception
I cant remember anything right after you dared me
To ask you like a gentleman to come to the stairway now

Standing on the rooftop hearts stop baby
Dont bite your lip, make me wish, I still loved you baby
Standing on the rooftop half past maybe
Your hungry eyes, full of lies, I aint Patrick Swayze
Standing on the rooftop hearts stop baby
Dont bite your lip, make me wish, I still loved you baby
Standing on the rooftop clocks stop timing
To let you know, let me go, honey dont remind me how perfect
Honey dont remind me how perfect we are
