G

Once upon a time when the earth was a disc

they feared the edge like plague, sudden death to all who d ever

G

try, but one guy

C

bought three ships and a crew and they tied the ropes loose

F#*

and the ships to sea and then

G*

G

headed for the fringe

G

A friend... an anchor in a sea

G

of mistrust, where heavy winds keep dragging

C

you off and throw water on the deck

G

and we don t know where to face the bust

F#*

the parchment maps have long been lost

G*

G

the compass a vague shadow in the dark

Ref (instrumental):

G

The land... few left to believe but instead of panic-stricken end the salvation is near

G

they put their feet and lips to ground and praised the gods for what they found

C

could only be a miracle but the truth is

F#*

they took chances and gained

G*

G

and that's all there's to say

Ref (instrumental):
