Verse 1

C Fmaj7 C Fmaj7 C
Let s let the weeds grow and the birds make nests
C Fmaj7 C Fmaj7 C Fmaj7 C on inconvenient perches so we can be more humble . . . now and let s grab each other s ankles and throw our little bodies down inconvenient mountains so we can learn to tumble...now See, I hear about this house with similar ambitions
kids who seem to listen, private rooms for kissin
a little mecca for the real ones, who ve found a way to steal fun
from behind all these signs that are keeping us from wishin

Chorus:

C(walk down to)

Am F C
(toodle-oo) Goodbye, my old town
G susp Am
got a better thing coming now (toodle-oo)
F C
Love your people and your sound
G C Fmaj7 C Fmaj7
but I aint gonna fake a frown

Verse 2

And if these sirens call us and temperaments befall us and all these catchy mantras are too trite, my dear, to shout recall that that this grain of salt that we ve brought here in our mouths is a string we ve tied behind us (put there to remind us) you can always turn around

Chorus:

Verse 3

but soon the loop repeats and the holes behind the sheets come clearly into focus (surrounding us with motives)
and reasons we should fly (kiss another town goodbye)
and this life, so half-hearted, that we ve accidentally started will be shaken off our backs as we re strapping on our packs

Chorus:

Instrumental

Verse 4

And when our little feet have crossed too many streets
we ll know home when we see it, though our minds may not believe it and we ll spread ourselves right out, get a mattress and a couch
and live life like we mean it
