I'm gonna do it my way
Bridge 2:
Am
                                    Am
I ain't a liar; I ain't no thief
                                              E7
Dm7
Can't stand your simper when you're lyin' through your teeth!
        (Chorus)
Refrain:
                                                         G
                                                                              Am
Dollar signs are in your eyes and greed in your heart
                                                           G
                                                                            Αm
Now its time to say goodbye. we're breakin' apart
                                                                Am
Ridinâ\in<sup>TM</sup> on my coattails cuz you can t be me
              Dm7
I ain't a one-trick pony on a dead end street!
(Instrumental)
Bridge 3:
                                              Am
I take no prisoners; I take no shit
                                              E7
You've got your enemies, but can you handle this?
       Last Chorus:
                                                                      D
                           Am
     Am
       Cuz I ain't nobody's puppet. I won't play nobody's fool.
