The Sophomore Attempt - Elisabeth Misc Unsigned Bands

F

Capo 2nd

Am F C G throughout the whole song, you can figure out chord changes

Am So I saw you sneaking through the back door C G Αm Heartfelt and I knew you needed something C G Am  $\mathbf{F}$ To hold you over till your ship came in C Am F Bull s eye now I think it's something deeper C G Am He paid only just to keep her G Am  $\mathbf{F}$ С Shut up with a handshake and a grin So cool and confident

For what it's worth and what makes sense Are you finally where you need to be, whoa And finally all that's left is broken hearts and shattered glass Will you find the place you need to be, whoa

So is it even worth the trouble To break the rope and face the struggle Of just another day alone so I saw you sneaking through the back door You cried out, but everyone ignored you Inside your prison cell alone

So cool and confident For what it's worth and what makes sense Are you finally where you need to be, whoa And finally all that's left is broken hearts and shattered glass Will you find the place you need to be, whoa

Close your eyes Pretend this isn t happening [6x]

So cool and confident For what it's worth and what makes sense Are you finally where you need to be, whoa And finally all that's left is broken hearts and shattered glass Will you find the place you need to be, whoa

and all I want you to know is that it be fine in this and all I want you to know You said let s talk about it You said it sure would mean a lot but talking requires that you listen [x2] Am You never listen
