Stir in Me

G                    D                    C                    G
Stir in me, A passion that my heart can not explain,
D                    E                    C
I come to worship you.
G                    D                    C                    G
Stir in me, a fire that the world cannot contain,
D                    E                    C
I come to worship you!
G                    D                    E                    C                    G
Hold me, break me, mold me, and make me more and more like you,
E                    C                    D
I come to worship you!
G                    D                    E                    C                    G
To love you, fear you, draw me ever near you as I worship you,
E                    C                    G
I come yo worship you!

They are a new band but no web page-they just came out! It is a good song!
The band is called Vision
