

Ray Porter - A God To Die For
Misc Your Songs

[Verse 1]

Ebm                      Db                      Bbm                      Ab
You may wonder why wars never end, no one seems to win or lose anymore.
Ebm                      Db                      Bbm                      Ab
Endless suffering with nothing to gain, we put our weapons down just to pick them up again.

[Chorus]

Gb                      Ab                      Ebm                      Gb
And war will never end, while we need a drug supply,
Ab                      Gb                      Ab                      Gb                      Ab                      Gb
refugees to dig our mines, oil to drive us wild and diamonds to make us feel divine.
Gb                      Ab                      Gb                      Ab
and a God to die for, we always find a God to die for

[Verse 2]

Ebm                      Db                      Bbm                      Ab
why there are so many guns around, people getting killed above and underground.
Ebm                      Db                      Bbm                      Ab
It seems like murder is no longer a crime and that we never learn from the experience of time.

[Chorus]

Gb                      Ab                      Ebm                      Gb
And war will never end, while we need a drug supply,
Ab                      Gb                      Ab                      Gb                      Ab                      Gb
refugees to dig our mines, oil to drive us wild and diamonds to make us feel divine.
Gb                      Ab                      Gb                      Ab
and a God to die for, we always find a God to die for
