

Ray Porter - Gods Love
Misc Your Songs

[Verse 1]

C                                    Em                                    Am7                                    Gm7
This is Gods love, a love that won t break, a love they can t tear apart
Gm7                                    Dm7 Em                                    Gm7
a love from the sky touched by God, delivered by Gm7 Am7                                    Gm7                                    Dm7                                    Em7
the spirit in the sky who will love you tonight

[Chorus]

C                                    Em                                    Am7                                    Gm7
dreams come true angels bring them to you but only if you let them
Gm7                                    Dm7                                    Em                                    Gm7
they will fly and touch the wind and kiss the stars
Gm7                                    Am7                                    Dm7                                    Em7
and with their Angel eyes they ll kiss you tonight

[Verse 2]

C                                    Em                                    Am7                                    Gm7
This is Gods love, a love that won t break, a love they can t tear apart
Gm7                                    Dm7 Em                                    Gm7
a love from the sky touched by God, delivered by Gm7 Am7                                    Gm7                                    Dm7                                    Em7
the spirit in the sky who will love you tonight

[Chorus]

C                                    Em                                    Am7                                    Gm7
dreams come true angels bring them to you but only if you let them
Gm7                                    Dm7                                    Em                                    Gm7
they will fly and touch the wind and kiss the stars
Gm7                                    Am7                                    Dm7                                    Em7
and with their Angel eyes they ll kiss you tonight