Verse 2
I remember someone old once said to me
That lies will lock you up with truth the only key
But I was comfortable and warm inside my shell
And couldn t see this place would soon become my hell
So is it better to tell and hurt or lie to save their face
Well I guess the answer is don t do it in the first place
I know I m not deserving of your trust from you right now
            Bm
But if by chance you change your mind you know I will not let you down
                  Bm
                                            G
                           Α
cos we were the special two and will be again
Chorus
And we will only need each other
We ll bleed together our hands will not be taught
To hold another s
Cause we re the special two
And we could only see each other
We ll breathe together, these arms will not be taught
To need another s
cos we re the special two Middle
I step outside my minds eye for a minute
               Em
And I look over me like a doctor looking for disease
Or something that could ease the pain
            Em
But nothing cures the hurt you
     F#
You bring on by yourself
                                           D
                          Asus4

Just remembering just remembering how you were

Chorus
