

Silver
Moist

Was just watching Moist play this live on YouTube as an acoustic song, and it sounded pretty good! I m not sure about a couple of the chords, but this sounds fairly close to the original.

Intro: Am / Dsus2 / Am / Fmaj7

Verse:

Am Dsus2
Close your eyes, your Christ has come,
Am
The crippled boy that you once knew,
 Fmaj7
The charmed enigma, chosen one..
Am Dsus2
Painted lips, skin ripped and torn,
Am
Come touch and feel and lick and smell,
 Fmaj7
This envy I have known so well,

Pre-chorus: (let the chords ring)

Am C
Everybody wants, everybody says,
Fmaj7 G
Everybody begs, in time...

Verse 2 and the second pre-chorus are exactly the same.

Chorus:

Am
And you will be the first to fall,
Dsus2*
Every feeling will dissolve,
Am F
We are - silver..
Am
Morphine baby s final breath,
Dsus2*
Ever smothered to your breast,
Am F
We are - silver...

During the breakdown, the chords are G and F (I think)

The last pre-chorus and chorus are as above, and end on Am.

That s it. A great song with a dark mood and rather cryptic lyrics - this version will sound good on acoustic as well.

* When playing Dsus2 (000230), you can use your forefinger on the first string and alternate with Dm (000231). In the chorus, you can also try playing Fmaj7 quickly after Dsus2 on the second line.
