(Verse 1)

D Gm D Gm
I saw you dance alone down the waterline
D Gm Bm A G
You were searching for secrets lost in the setting sun
D Gm D Gm
I said just wait a while and you ll understand
D Gm Bm A G
How the wintry warlord gave poets another try
Gm D
To figure the reasons why, it takes a
Em F#m G A Gm D
Laugh and a half to unveil your scarlet eyes

(Verse 2)

She returned, was wearing that rose so well
Broke down and cried because of the sun that had been up all day
At the movies there would have been rain
Oh, the bittersweet irony, rain replaced by tears

(Chorus 1)

Gm D F C
Ain t it funny how some things, look so different from afar
Gm D
When it comes to me and you
Dm C Dm C
The mirror stole our perfect view, now there is nothing left we can do
Dm C Bb C
And the story is done at last, for the ghost of flowers past

(Guitar Melody) x2

D - Gm - D - Gm - Bm - A - G

(Verse 3)

I saw you shape the wings of a butterfly

Until the colors fit like a puzzle already done
But who am I to question the grand design?
Another headstone written to fix every broken rhyme
Carved in the hands of time, for the singer inside to remind us of your life

(Chorus 2)

In a place where nothing is real, let me tell you how I feel
Didn't know which heart to mend
So here's a drink to absent friends, for a love that never did end
And the story is done at last, for the ghost of flowers past

(Instrumental Break) x2

F - Bb - F - Bbm - Dm - Bbm
F - Dm - Gm - C - F - Bbm - F

(Break) x2

F Bb Dm C Bbm
Memories of yesteryear, is a part of you we'll travel here, now
F Bb F Bbm Dm Bbm
The curtains call this day upon us, so ride this wave on wings of wondering
F Dm Gm C F Bbm F
Why those scarlet eyes still haunt me today

(Verse 4)

D Gm
Back to the first day of summer
D Gm
The flowers that past greet the sunlight
Bm A G
Again with a song, sung by angels of love
D Gm
So who am I now? In the distance
D Gm
I hear broken words, calling me to the
Bm A
Rhythmless core, trapped forever
G
In love with the girl on the shore

(Guitar Melody)

We all drink to absent friends, and for a love that never dies

Ain t it funny how the mirror makes sure perfect never lasts

It all starts and ends right here with you, my ghost of flowers past

(Verse 5)

I saw you dance alone down the waterline

You were searching for secrets lost in the setting sun

I saw you shape the wings of a butterfly

Now the riddle fits like a puzzle already done

Though life had just begun
