

Burning Benches
Morning Runner

Burning Benches by MORNING RUNNER

Tabbed by Alex T

First tab, blah blah etc. This isn't exactly how it's played in the song but it's a nice way to play it one one guitar.

Obviously you'll want UltimatePiano if you're after a proper accurate version.

Standard tuning but - CAPO 2nd FRET!

Chords:

D: xx0232

A: x02220

G: 320022

D5: xx032x

Asus: x03340

||: xxxx :|| =repeat xxxx

Crescendo throughout the whole thing.

INTRO:

	D	A	G	D5
e	--22222222	22233220	00000000	02233220	33333333	32233220 ----- -----
B	--33333333	3-----	22222222	2-----	33333333	3----- 33333333 33333333
G	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	----- 22222222 22222222
D	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	----- ----- -----
A	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	----- ----- -----
E	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	----- ----- -----

VERSE

[same strum frequency as intro but go for the whole chord, and put in some frills like the chorus - mess around with the B string frets 0,2 and 3 as well, it all sounds good]

D

||: Let us make amends

We're not overly good friends

G

D5

But it's not heaven without you

D

You can have it all

A

We ll see mountains fall

G

But it s not heaven without you :||

[Do a little quiet bit on the top 2 strings, just a D with the little riff or something,

come in loudly and with a bit faster strumming frequency]:

D

It s a symphony distorting

A

When we re not talking

G

D5

But its not heaven without you

CHORUS

[Another little quiet fill bit first, then go loud again, with fast strumming]:

G

There s just something different

Asus

With the air about you

The signs, the shapes, the numbers

G

They never give me a clue

A

You can have it all

G

And I m not burning benches

Asus

Cause the ash will make me choke

It was me who always spluttered

G

Every time we spoke, we spoke

A

You can have it all

Do another G - A, fast strumming and loud, and end on an Asus.
