The Cat Crept In
Drums x 4
I said a hey you guys look who s awaitin outside.
Well she got style you can see it in her feline eyes.
         C#
When she starts movin you sure can tell
When she starts shakin she s raisin hell.
I said a hey you guys
                              В
look who s awaitin outside
                                               F#
Do you remember how she left that floor last Saturday night.
When the cat broke loose well she darn near started the fight
Well she may be flashin like a neon sign
But you can t touch her cause she s mine all mine.
                                                           В
                              D
I said a hey you guys look who s awaitin outside.
And then the cat crept in and crept out again
The cat crept in and crept out again
                                                       в
So I open the door for that high-heeled paw
              C#
I said the cat crept in ooh
              C#
and crept out again.
                                               C# В
I said the cat crept in and we crept out again
