(almost) all the way through

Meet me in the middle of the morning

When the crows fly highest in the sky
Couldn't you hear me calling
I was out looking for you all night
Oh, but I never found you
No matter how hard I tried to Oh no, I never found you
Sara if only you knew

Serotonin, burning a hole into my heart
Felt like I was floating
But now I'm coming down with you
Down with you so hard

Meet me at the bottom of the ocean
Feel its fingers tickling our skin you mix your magic potion
The old familiar feeling starts to kick in
But now it's fading and I can't hear what you're saying
It feels like it's slipping through my fingers
It's fading and I can't hear what you're saying
It feels like it's slipping

It's the serotonin, burning a hole into my heart Felt like I was frozen, but now I'm coming up so hard Serotonin, well you're really tearing me apart

Felt like I was frozen, but now I'm coming out so hard

Sara, serotonin
Sara, serotonin (Coming up so hard)
Sara, serotonin
Sara, serotonin (Coming up so hard)
