

Shes Looking Better Every Beer
New Riders of the Purple Sage

She s Looking Better Every Beer

Lyrics: John Shine

Music: John Shine

Intro AGD

D G
Well I guess it s been at least an hour, and I didn t plan to stay

A D
I only dropped in to drink a beer, and float off on my way

G
It was a pale and rather plain girl over in the corner sipping wine

A D
When I did not sit down at her table, she sat down at mine

Chorus

G D
And she s looking better every beer

A D
Her hair is soft and shiny now, her eyes are bright and clear

G D
How could it be I didn t notice her when I first came in here

A D
Now she s looking better every beer

D G
Well the bar lights and the candles throw a little color on the chin

A D
And two by two the people leave who one by one came in

D G
The jukebox plays and the coke-filled ashtrays warns the time that flies

A D
And every time I drain my mug I can t believe my eyes

Chorus

G D
And she s looking better every beer

A D
Her hair is soft and shiny now, her eyes are bright and clear

G D
How could it be I didn t notice her when I first came in here

A D
Now she s looking better every beer

Outro AGD