Comments from: Paul McMullan <MCMULLAN@alkali.otago.ac.nz>:

The position of the chords is about right I think. In many cases they should be played on the start of the word that follows the chord. For example, (F)scarlet ... means the F is played on the s. My positioning of the chords isn t exactly the same as the sheet music - it doesn t always correspond to where the guitar chord has been placed. But it does agree with the chord (or note) in the piano notation.
