[CHORUS]
            god is dead.....hell I ll see you there [OUTRO] {sort of confused chorus part}
/ (your god is dead)
                               (and no one cares)
              your god is dead
                                            and no one cares
/(drowning in his own hypocrisy)
                 if there is a hell
                                          I will see you there
                                                 ? { extra } burning with your god
                              in humility
                               for this?
                                                 ? {words ?}
      will you die
                   ____[niNOTES]____
Words of Mommy :
      This is an interestin tune...tune down to DROP D for this one...
      The outro at first sounds like it changes every other measure,
      but if you listen really closely, it s all synth noise
      that I couldn t hear well enough to TAB out...
Words of Psylip :
      This song is full of parasit noises. That s why the chorus part and the outro sound weird to me. Anyway all others sound good.
      I m not sure trent sings all the outro the way it is printed
      And last if there is a hell could be \sim it s that all I have .
