

Happy Hour
Nirvana

C#                   A           F#m G#m           A           B
And if you save yourself you will make him happy
C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
He ll keep you in a jar           and you ll think you re happy
C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
He ll give you breathing holes           and you ll think you re happy
C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B           C#m
He ll cover you with grass           and you ll think you re happy now

A                   F#m
You re really in a laundry room

A                   F#m
You re really in a laundry room

A                   F#m                   A G#m
The clue just came to you, oh

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
And if you cut yourself           you will think you re happy

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
He ll keep you in a jar           then you ll make him happy

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
He ll give you breathing holes           then you ll think you re happy

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B           C#m
He ll cover you with grass           then you ll think you re happy now

(Chorus) (Solo - Base do Verso) (Chorus)

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
And if you fool yourself           you will make him happy

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
He ll keep you in a jar           then you ll think you re happy

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B
He ll give you breathing holes           then you will seem happy

C#                   A           F#m G#m                   A           B           C#m
You ll wallow in his shit           then you ll think you re happy now

A                   F#m                   (3x)

You re really in a laundry room

A                   F#m                   A G#m

The clue just came to you, oh