and someone are crying and all the brats are dying and all the rich girls are running the sky is falling in

So I stand by and see the world in fire buildt up by the liers all I ever need I have in you lets see the world in fire let the flames reach higher can you see the world from my damn view there s a chaos in the world and I love the sound

The beaten and the weak are holding ground everyone are praying to be saved now they finally trying to behave and someone is trying, but no he keeps on dying when every one that always trying to be better than us is screaming like a child but I dont really care becasue they been satanic spreading panic how can they be saved now

When the sky is falling down

Lets set this world on fire a pile of shit empire all I ever need I have in you
