The car crashed but everybody was okay
          F#                                  G#
But that don t mean we re gonna have to stay
          C#                                  G#
So c mon, I m ready to go when you re done
          F#                                  G#
Let s trash this place before we run
          F#                                  C#
And if we both fall down
          F#                                  G#
Another train will come around
          F#                                  G#          C#          G#
Packed with others getting lost and found

          C#                                  G#
By now we re finishing each other s thoughts
          F#                                  G#
Everyone else seems to want what we ve got
          C#                                  G#
But I m not afraid to say goodbye
          F#                                  G#
As long as someone else has caught my eye
          F#                  C#          F#                  G#
Everyone s a dove when they fall in love
          F#                  C#                  G#
The roses cover up the old debris
          F#                                  G#
Keeping their eyes down
          C#                                  F#
Until they can t ignore the sound
                                  G#                  C#          G#
Of all the others getting lost and found

Instrumental :C# G# F# C# G#
                  C# G# F# G# C#

          F#                                  C#
We all have hearts so pure
          F#                                  G#
But some hearts can t endure
          F#                  C#                  G#
The iridescent light of folly s lure
          F#                                  G#
We give in to the sound
          C#                                  F#

Of that old train coming round
