[Verse]

```

C           E       F           C
In a western town, beneath the northern lights,
C           E       F           C
where the pine trees pine for the fall of night,
C           E       F           C
you believe in cards, you believe in signs
C           E       F           C
and I ll be leavin soon, but I m here tonight.
C           E       F           C
On a mountainside, well below the stars,
C           E       F           C
keep your lovers eyes in mason jars
C           E       F           C
and I should be scared but I feel no fear,
C           E       F           C       CE F C
cause I ll be leavin soon, tonight I m here.

[Chorus]

F           C           F           C
And even if you are the one, and even if the cards are all true,
Dm           F           C
when the curtain calls, oh baby, what s a boy to do?
Dm           F           C
When the curtain calls, oh baby, what s a boy to do?

[Verses] (same as first)

Well the Southern P. moved her family down.
Then along came me to her sleepy town.
I don t believe in cards, I don t believe in signs,
but I ll be leavin soon. I m here tonight.

[Chorus] x2

In a western town, beneath the northern lights,
where the pine trees pine for the fall of night,
don t believe in me, did I make that clear?

cause I ll be long gone soon, tonight I m here.
