Pandoras Box Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark (OMD) Pandoras Box - OMD Am Born in Kansas on an ordinary plain Αm F Ran to New York but ran away from fame Only seventeen when all your dreams came true Am But all you wanted was someone to undress you And all the stars you kissed could never ease the pain Still the grace remains and though the face has changed And you re still the same C Αm F And it s a long long way from where you want to be Am F And it s a long long road but you re too blind to see Am Frame of silence of an innocence divine Am Is a dangerous creation when you fail the test of time And all the photographs of ghosts of long ago Still they hurt you so won t let you go And you still don t know Am And it s a long long way from where you want to be Am And it s a long long road but you re too blind to see Am When you look around yourself now do you recognize the girl The one who broke a thousand hearts terrified the world

And all the stars you kissed could never ease the pain

And if the face has changed the grace remains

G

And you re still the same

And it s a long long way from where you want to be And it s a long long road but you re too blind to see And it s a long long way from where you want to be