Verse 1

Are you out there where the rainy days begin to feel rather sad
And the walls are closing in like the darkness around me
It s so hard to look away when the daylight doesn t ever stay
Above this dull apartment view - oh, I will surround you
It s quite clear that I m stuck here
So I ll devise a plan and cut out a door in my new living room floor
The porch light is so bright
That I will quickly sneak down the dark metal shape of the rusty fire escape.

BRIDGE

I bought a one-way ticket
Cause I knew I d never see the ground
Unless I was aboard a jet plane and we were going down.
When I wiped the tears from my eyes
The warm water took me by surprise
And I woke up beside the ocean and I realized:
I must be in California.
