

Coming Home To You

Paolo Nutini

Coming Home To You

Ooh

E

I`d be a liar if I said to you,

E

B7

the doubts don`t cross my mind,

A

and devotin all my hours to you

E

still takes its toll sometime

E

`Cos I left home and lived alone

E

A

far before I was due

E

And that s why I keep comin home to you

E

Oh, I`d be a hypocrite if I said

B7

that I`d be best for you all the time

A

`Cos my mind wanders and I find myself

just like a tired school boy on the sheepy line
and then you smiled for me,

A

deceives me and I know I`ll be true

E

B7

E

and that`s why I keep comin home to you

B7

An I want to kiss you near the abbey

E

Up in the car park in the sky

E

Up there where we used to go

B7

and swim with you through the lagoon

E

as people pass us by

A

B7

that s when you... will know

E

that although my lies, say otherwise

B7

it`s ment to be a swear

A

denyin me of my prime obsession

E

just would not be fair
so clear the floor with me and dance with me

A

coshin to the wind *

E

B7

E

And i swear I`ll keep comin home â€¦... again

* (not shure the text in this line is right, or what this means, that s what I understand)
