Liars can say it all just as well

Every single word you've heard in vain

Baubles of gold, stars in your hair

F

Reflections that told you they were not there

C

And the diamonds on your cheeks have turned to flames

And up in the air, they would write your name there

Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah

F

Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah

It's a wondrous world of ridiculous things

With nothing so rare as the love that it brings

In the silence of a smile that understands
A piece of the action, pieces of gold
Everyone's paid well and does what they're told
For the simple daughter of a simple man

And up in the air, they would write your name there
But love would fall to pieces in the rain
Who would know better than you? A hundred love letters and none of them true
Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah
Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah
