If you had the real thing, how would you tell?

F

Liars can say it all just as well

C

G

F

Every single word you've heard in vain

C

G

Baubles of gold, stars in your hair

F

Reflections that told you they were not there

C

F

And the diamonds on your cheeks have turned to flames

G

Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah

It's a wondrous world of ridiculous things
With nothing so rare as the love that it brings

In the silence of a smile that understands
A piece of the action, pieces of gold
Everyone's paid well and does what they're told
For the simple daughter of a simple man

And up in the air, they would write your name there
But love would fall to pieces in the rain
Who would know better than you? A hundred love letters and none of them true
Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah
Christina, oh-wah-oh, yeah
