Louis was my dearest friend
                                D Am D
Fighting in the anzac trench.
Louis ran forward from the line,
                G D D G D
And i never saw him again.

Later in the dark

                                D Am D
I thought i heard louis voice
Calling for his mother, then me,
But i couldn t get to him.

He s still up on that hill.
                  Am G G Am G
20 years on that hill.
                           Am Em G Em
Nothing more than a pile of bones,
                   Am G G Am
But i think of him still.

If i was asked i d tell
                            G D D Am G
The colour of the earth that day;
It was dull, and browny-red,
                             D
                               DGD
the colour of blood i d say
