A|-----| A|-----|
E|-----| E|-----|
```

3th guitar: G Am G

```
          F          C          G
On a rooftop in Brooklyn
F          C          G
One in the morning
F          C          G
Watching the lights flash
F          C          G
In Manhattan
          C          D          C
I see five bridges
C          D          C
The empire state building
          F          C          G
And you said something
          F          C          G
That I ve never forgotten

          F          C          G
We lean against railings
          F          C          G
Describing the colours
          F          C          G
And the smells of our homelands
F          C          G
```

Acting like lovers

C                    D                    C

How did we get here?

C                    D                    C

To this point of living?

F                    C                    G

I held my breath

F                    C                    G

And you said something

And I am doing nothing wrong

F                    C                    G

Riding in your car

F                    C                    G

Your radio playing

F                    C                    G

We sing up to the eighth floor

C D C

A rooftop, in Manhattan

C D C

One in the morning

F C G

When you said something

F C G

That I ve never forgotten

F C G

When you said something

F C G

That was really important

I think that the 1st guitar isn t a guitar. It sound like a Organ with a kind of rare effect.
