A Fine Line
By Radney Foster

G D
There s a curve in the highway, just south of town
Em C
Where a man has pulled over to figure life out
G D
With only his conscience and the lonesome sound
C
Of diesels winding up grade
G D
He s got a wife and two kids, they love him so
Em C
He s got a woman down in Georgia, and she s startin to show
G D
He s damned if he leaves her, and he s sure damned if he don tes
C
And he wonders how life got this way

Chorus:

D G C D
Cause it s a fine line in between right and wrong
G C D
Yeah, he s been crossing over that border way too long
Em D G
He should a seen it coming at him right from the start
C D G
Now there ainâ€™t no escape from a broken heart

Now the call of the highway is a powerful thing
Like the pull of a lover, or a child in a swing
Gave his heart to two women, only one wears his ring
They re both gonna have his babies now
So how do you confess what words don t explain
He never intended to cause this much pain
Now he feels like a farmer who went praying for the rain
Got more than he bargained from the clouds

Chorus

Em C
He ll turn his car around tonight, go home and try to face the truth
Am G F#m D
Everyone involved s getting hurt, now there ainâ€™t nothing he can do

Chorus
