

Song For A Chicken Named Jenny
Ramshackle Glory

Song For a Chicken Named Jenny

Artist: Pat the Bunny Schneewies

Album: The Mark Inside

Transcribed by: A.I.

Notes: Just listen to get the correct strumming. I m pretty much tone deaf but I m pretty sure the chords are close, the strumming might get changed up but I think its the same 4 chords through out the song. Please feel free to correct and i ll keep this up to date. Send me any suggestions to eastbayanarchy@Gmail.com

Intro:

Palm muted strum into

C,G,Am,F 2X

Verse 1:

C	G	Am.	F
I	eat	ciggarettes	for breakfast, and coffee for lunch.

For dinner I lay in the dirt and wait for the end times to come.

I wish I could tell you the truth but when I do it comes out sounding stupid.

But meet me at four in the morning and see for yourself.

There s sunrise and sunset that s all I really gotta know.

The rest is a prison that I build for myself.

On my worst nites, I d still burn down the city just for a peaceful nites rest.

But here in your arms my darling, I think that can wait.

Or I hope it can.

Verse 2:

I murdered a chicken for breakfast, and ate it for lunch.

She was beautiful, she was scrappy, she was as mean as they come.

And I told her on the way to the chopping block, Chaos reigns over as all.

One day I ll be worm food with Jenny, first its your turn.

There s sunrise and sunset and then there s the day that I die.

All the rest is a prison or else its a lie.

At my worst times I d still murder a traffic cop to get out of a ticket.

But here in your arms my darling police don t exist.

Or I hope the doooooooooohooooooooonnnn t, I hope they doooooooooohhhooooooooonnnn t.

I hope they doooooooooooooooooohhhooooooooonnnnt , I hope they don t.