

Edge Of The Universe
Reina del Cid

Reina capos this on the first fret. It is then sung in the most sorrowful key of A flat.

G C
You have gone to the edge of the universe
Em Am D7
and I swear, I will follow even if it hurts
G
I have tried and so I know
Em C
there is nothing worse
Am D7 G
than waiting for you to come home

I wake up to the roar
C
of my racing thoughts
Em
Drive to work, sip my coffee
Am D7
in the parking lot
G
Then it s up, up, and away
Em C
like an astronaut
Am D7 G
set out to bring you back home

C
I float over Mars and its blood red dunes
Em
Then I m flung round the sun
Am D7
toward the distant moons
G
I will face the blackest hole
Em C
if it leads to you
Am D7 G
cause I need to bring you back home

Em Am D7
I ve tried to sit at your hospital bed
G Am D7
by the body that s missing its soul,
G Em

Oh, but how can I stay when you're light-years away and you can't find a way to get home?

At my desk there's a body
and it works all day
Its brain crunches numbers automatically
But I am gone, I'm at the heart of the Milky Way
cause I'm gonna bring you back home

I will burn through the miles to find you, love
I won't linger in the beauty of a nebula I'll push on toward the lights of Andromeda for one day I will bring you back home

I've come to dread that old hospital bed where your body still waits for its soul Please, can we be the first in the vast universe
to go right to the edge and back home?

There's nothing as cruel as old gravity
How many times I've asked him to have mercy on me that I might meet my baby beyond the stars?

G

But you have gone

C

to the edge of the universe

Em

And now I see I can't follow

Am

D7

even though it hurts

G

I'll give up, I'll stay here,

Em

C

though there's nothing worse

Am

D7

G

Than waiting for you to come home

Am

But I will be waiting

D7

G

for you to come home

Am

D7

G

I'll go on waiting for you to come home
