

Broken Halo Reuben

This is from Reuben's album Me vs. You, when they played under the name Angel rather Reuben. Its in standard tuning, and its relatively easy.
I rushed writing this out, it only took me about 20 minutes to write out the tab and the and I havent really proofed it so theres probably gonna be some errors. Contact me at for any important stuff. This song can be acquired from reubens website totally free, as one of their old demos and theyre being generous. Lovely.

2p1 = pulloff from fret 2 to fret 1 x2 = number of times a section should be played (i have seen people not know what this means...)

Lyrics:

Live your life
your at one with yourself maybe I didnt see it that way

So unwind led by somebody else

didn't care kept real feelings at bay

Where was I when you kept it in?
Far too close with my obscure view where was I when you wept inside where was I was I was closed to you?

Because I always meant to hold you the way that I should have I always meant to tell you that it was ok
And I always meant to show you things weren't that bad even if they seemed that way
even if they seemed that way.

I'm alone
but I'm crowded with friends I figured out what I couldn't have done powdered nose like you make your own ends finding peace with just a drink and a gun where was I when you cut your face? far away, right by your side where was I when you made that decision? where was I when the universe died?

Because I always meant to hold you
the way that I should have I always meant to show you that it was ok
And I always meant to tell you
things weren't that bad
even if they seemed that way
even if they seemed that way.

And I always meant to touch you Like nobody else had and I always meant to give you a reason to stay
And I never ever did that And I could've saved you maybe things just seemed that way

maybe things just seemed that way
maybe things just seemed that way
maybe things just seemed that way.

Thanks, and enjoy.
