

Acronym Love
Riverside

These are not exactly the chords the piano plays, but they re fine to do an acoustic cover or to accompany the piano.

Everytime the Dm9/A chord is played, you can variate a bit with Dm/A(for example) like the piano does it sometimes. (just one additional finger)
If you play without piano, D Minor with an A bass sounds better then an F bass, so use Dm/F and Dm9/F instead of Dm/A and Dm9/A, if you play with a piano.

I hope you enjoy it =)
