I knew I d never be the same again
I was lost, but I m found,
lost but I m found
                                   G#m

And until I felt the joy and the pain
I used to pray for the sun
to turn the night into day
          F#7
                               Gdim
                                          G#m
And now I kneel and feel the frost on the ground
And I rise and I pray,
                                        F#7
           в
                            F#
Rise and I pray, Rise and I pray
