I gave away more than I had
        F#m
In a blinding cold, casket black
            D
When the sun went down
                  E
And never did return.
           A
Like a gasoline on an open flame
       F#m
Light up so bright, then burn away
        D
If I fall apart
                   E
Look the other way

         D   A   E
When all the things I need
F#m   E   D
Feel just like a dream
         D   A   E
And every breath I breathe
         D
Is so hard

                            A
Well I just want a reason to hope
             F#m
A reason to know
                       E   E
That I should still be here
                            A
Maybe just a glimpse of the light
                 F#m

```
A patch of blue sky
                  E         E
Something to believe in
                           F#m
I just want a reason to hope
            D
A reason to hope
               A                    E
A reason that I should not let go
                        A       F#m     E
I want a reason to hope

          A
And it s hard to say times are bad
              F#m
Cause it s been much worse, and I know that
         D
But from all I ve seen
                        E
These days are awful hard
          A
And the prayers come slow for me at first,
          F#m
Then the dam broke down, and the rivers surged
      D
I am on my knees
                      E
Wondering what it s worth

      D          A        E
And all the things I need
F#m         E         D
Feel just like a dream
        D     A        E
And every breath I breathe
        D
Is so hard

                          A
Well I just want a reason to hope
            F#m
A reason to know
                        E         E
That I should still be here
                          A
Maybe just a glimpse of the light
              F#m
A patch of blue sky
                  E         E
Something to believe in
```

```
                        F#m
I just want a reason to hope
                D
A reason to hope
                A                     E
A reason that I should not let go
                        A       F#m   E
I want a reason to hope

            A
And I said hold up
                    F#m
It s alright if you don t see, open up your eyes
        D                       E
If you fall down I will pick you up [x2]

                            A
Well I just want a reason to hope
            F#m
A reason to know
                    E         E
That I should still be here
                        A
Maybe just a glimpse of the light
                F#m
A patch of blue sky
                E         E
Something to believe in
                        F#m
I just want a reason to hope
            D
A reason to hope
            A                     E
A reason that I should not let go
                    A       F#m   E
I want a reason to hope

            A
And I said hold up
                    F#m
It s alright if you don t see, open up your eyes
        D                         E
