

No One Makes It On Her Own
Roxette

Have you ever had the feeling you take it all for granted
You wake up every morning and expect to rise
Have you ever had a moment to look into the mirror
To find a person Who won't open her eyes
Have you ever felt a presence (or is it all in the past, dear?)
So mesmerizing It chills you to the bone
Have you ever been in love And overcome that first fear
Well, then you know No one makes it on her own
Did you ever catch a sunset right across the ocean
The universe revealed and it didn't make sense at all
When you came into my world causing quite a commotion
I could have sworn I've met you many times before Cos there's something in your eyes That links us together
Something bout your face your lips Your smile looks so alone
Have you ever been in love and thought it'd last forever
Well, then you know no one makes it on her own oooooo oooooooooo oooooooooo

Hey, there?s something in your eyes that links us together
Something bout your face your lips your smile looks so alone

Have you ever been in love and thought it?d last forever

Then you know no one makes it on her own

no one makes it on her own
