

One Thing

Runrig

Runrig - One thing

Capo 2nd fret

I haven't tabbed the solo but for a single guitar you don't really need it. I may try tab it out if anyone actually requests it, but otherwise this is a great song to play on one guitar.

Intro chords:

Am, C, F, Am, C, Dm, Am

Am                    C                    F                    Am
Walk out the door, your eyes filled with tears
C                    Am                    C                    G
or stay and confront me and face all your fears
Am                    C                    F                    Em
linger in silence neither distant or near Am                    Dm                    Am
it's not going to change a thing

Am                    C                    F                    Am
Lay down beside me and question my faith
C                    Am                    C                    G
or hold me with all the love we have made
Am                    C                    F                    Em
share all your secrets or hide them away
Am                    Dm                    G
it's not going to change a thing

F                    Em                    Am
The picture is painted, the colours are bold
C                    Am                    C                    G
one for each season of life I suppose
F                    C                    G
it no longer matters, the story is told
Am                    Dm                    Am
it's not going to change a thing

Am                    C                    F                    Am
Lie here and talk of whatever you want
C                    Am                    C                    G
or dare to compare all the things we've done wrong
Am                    C                    F                    Em

what care the world when we re all dead and gone

Am                      Dm                      G

it s not going to change a thing

F    Em                      Am

The picture is painted, the colours are bold

C                      Am                      C                      G

one for each season of life I suppose

F    C                      G

it no longer matters, the story is told

Am                      Dm                      Am

it s not going to change a thing

Enjoy!