

Yesterdays Blues

Ryan Bingham

Yesterday's Blues - Ryan Bingham - Junky Star
Standard Tuning

Intro: G Em G D G

G

Well, I shook the hand of a weeping sparrow

Em G

And heard the most beautiful tune

G

Laid myself down upon a field of flowers

Em G

And searched through my dreams to find you

D G

And lost all of yesterday's blues

And I walked in circles confused and scattered

And stumbled around as a fool

Lost in the maze of veins in my heart

Til i woke up unconscious with you

And let go of yesterday's blues

C B/C A/C G

Cause you have a way that lets me breathe

C B/C A/C G

And you have a way that sets me free

C B/C A/B G

And you have a heart that can see right through

D C G

The bitterness of my yesterday's blues

Down in a city of shelters and shambles

I though I had nothing to lose

I took for granted the wise words of strangers

And gambled until I was through

And lost all of yesterday's blues

Cause you have a way that sets me free

And you have a way that lets me breathe

D C G

And you have a heart that can see right through

D C G

The bitterness of my yesterday's blues

Well, I shook the hand of the deepest sorrow

And waved a goodbye just to lose

Laid myself down below the endless towers

And searched through my dreams to find you
And lost all of yesterday's blues
