intro:    C#    F#    C#    F#

verse 1:
```
 C#                                   F#
even in the little things, that never seem too big to me
         C#                                 F#
and the things i thought didn t matter much at all
    C#                                F#
as simple as my daily bread, to the strength i need to get out of bed
A#m            G#                  F#
when i fly, or when i m about to fall

        G#     F#          G#        B
oh it s You in me, that i fail to see

chorus:
```
         C#              F#
make me aware, make me see
        A#m         G#            F#
that everything i am is not all about me
          C#             F#
so take my world, turn it around
          A#m         G#        F#
so that the obvious can finally be found
          C#  F#                  A#m  G#  F#
make me aware,       make me aware

verse 2:
```
         C#                                           F#
when my life is hanging from a thread, and i think about the things You said
    C#                           F#
that in this moment seems so far away.
 C#                            F#
help me see the guarantees, that first brought me to believe
  A#m           G#            F#
so i can make it through another day

        G#     F#          G#            B
oh it s You in me,     that helps me breathe

Chorus:
```
         C#             F#
make me aware, make me see

          A#m              G#              F#
that everything i am is not all about me
            C#                    F#
so take my world, turn it around
            A#m              G#          F#
so that the obvious can finally be found
            B                               F#                                A#m make me aware..i have been missing so much, not recognizing Your touch
                      B
or acknowledging, that You re the reason i m even here
                          F#                            A#m
i have been missing so much, not recognizing Your touch
                  B                      B              C#
make me aware,      make me aware

help me see,
        A#m              G#            F#
that everything i am is not all about me
        C#                    F#
take my world, turn it around
            A#m              G#          F#
so that the obvious can finally be found
            C#  F#                    A#m  G#  F#

outro:

C#  F#  A#m  G#  F#(x2)
oooh  ooooh  oooh
