Subject: CRD: Screaming Trees-NO ONE KNOWS

Due to the scarcity of Screaming Trees songs out there, I decided that my first contribution to the archive should be just that.

For NO ONE KNOWS, there are only 3 chords throughout the song, played over various fills and drums and bass in the back, but I always liked playing this one with just an acoustic (and a harp if you ve got it!). Anyway, I ve presented two ways to play the F and G chords, but I prefer the first example of both because it allows you to play the song with minimal finger movement. These are probably the less popular versions of the chord (although not more difficult), so if you re not used to them, give it a shot. It s really smooth that way. I also included that little intro that they put before the chorus and each verse.

This one s from memory with out a guitar present, so if I screwed up, please let me know so I can fix it. Thanks in advance. Gotta love these guy s music. Stay tuned for more...

Screaming Trees: No One Knows

Verse I

Don't turn away, you haven't yet awakened
Why don't you stay, remember what you said
10,000 miles and everyone's mistaken
Look where you've been, where every woman's wasted

Chorus

All the while you were sleeping,
Drifting where the wind never goes
Tomorrow you'll wake up aching
Wondering how when no one really knows

Verse II

Don't speak the word of all that you've been saving
If there is a time, then you should let it go
Into the fire and bring back all you've taken
Once more alone you'll never let it show

Repeat Chorus

Bridge

Now what've I done wrong
Why don't you tell me what've I done wrong
Babe tell me what've I done wrong
Why don't you tell me, tell me, tell me

Repeat Verse I

Repeat Chorus

Repeat Bridge
