

Broken Stereo Acoustic
Sean Fournier

This song is licensed and written by Sean Fournier.
You can listen to him and download his FREE album on www.sean-fournier.com

These chords are the only one around right now so if you have any comments or please email me at phatmike115@yahoo.com.

Note: This is for the acoustic Album verison of the song, the normal version can be on this site

<http://www.facebook.com/pages/Sean-Fournier/20348760103?ref=ts> and is a half step higher.

Intro:

G# (Bounce on top string)

Verse:

G Am
Why do you look so glum? Are you breaking
C
Behind that smile that I know your faking
G Am C C Bm
It is no suprise. I see it in your eyes
Am C
And they just don t lie

Chorus:

G Am C
If your life was a broken stereo, I d be music to your ears
G Am C
and your fears would be drowned in my audio
C
You don t hear me though
G Am C
And I d shed light on your worst-case scenario
C
When you re crawling through the dark,
G Am C
My spark would light the way back home
C
You don t see me though
G Am C
And we could be so good.
G Am C

Yeah we could be so good.

Verse:

G Am
Why do you look so glum? Where are you weeping and letting go of dreams that you know you should be keeping?
C
G Am C C Bm
Cause once you let them go, they re gone. (So long)
Am C
But I can help you hold on.

Chorus:

G Am C
If your life was a broken stereo, I d be music to your ears
G Am C
and your fears would be drowned in my audio
C
You don t hear me though
G Am C
And I d shed light on your worst-case scenario
C
When you re crawling through the dark,
G Am C
My spark would light the way back home
C
You don t see me though
G Am C
And we could be so good.
G Am C
Yeah we could be so good.

Bridge

G Am
I m in your vicinity, but you do not consider me.
C
Met you once or twice, but you probably don t remember me
G Am
cause i go undiscovered. You confuse me for another.
C
I make faces in a faceless crowd.
Am C
And I ve been screaming out loud.

Chorus:

