On a morning in May

On a beach outside Monterey

With her shoes in her hand

D A D

And let her mind go astray

A D

He was a Santa Cruz-boy

A
He held his head up

Bm

With pride and joy

And he was riding the surf

To where the sea meets the turf

D A D

And every wave was his toy

And then he saw her and smiled

A D

He never knew such a lovely child

A E

With a curly brown hair

Bm

Flying loose in the air

A D

Looking gentle and mild

A D

But she pretends to be shy

A D

And makes a motion to passing by

A E

He s handsome and strong

Bm

She doesn t walk very long

E A D

Turns around and says hi!

Whatever makes them both reach
The same spot on the beach

A D

There are stories that tell

A D Bm

That the tide has a magic swell

A E

And that the hundred year pine
Has a secret divine

D A D

That is sung by a shell

A D

And they smile and they know
Cause their young bodies

A D

Tell them so

A E

That they re alone in the world

Bm

Unseen and unheard

A D

For the feelings to show

A D

So in the warm morning sun

A D

While the sandpiper makes his run

A E

Making beautiful love

Bm

And the blue sky above

E A D

Blessed the day that begun

A D A

Two hearts that fly like a dove

E A

And seagulls are circling above

D A

Names that are carved in a stone:

E A

Angelica and Ramone

A D

And they smile and they know
Cause their young bodies

A D

Tell them so

A E

That they re alone in the world

Bm

Unseen and unheard

A D

For the feelings to show

A D

So in the warm morning sun

A D

While the sandpiper makes his run

A E

Making beautiful love

Bm

And the blue sky above

E A D

Blessed the day that begun

A E

Making beautiful love

Bm

And the blue sky above

E A

Blessed the day that begun
